Jonghap Environment Technology Co., Ltd.

We shall be your reliable neighbor to both the marine and the industrial field.

As years go by, each field of our society has been going through a rapid change and development.

We believe that the most important of all is to do the best in the field and area that we belong to. That is why we, the whole family of JONGHAP put our utmost effort in learning every possible high technology there is.

Having begun with ship repairs and maintenance, we have now reached a point where we produce and manufacture specialized industrial and ship building materials and equipment stemming from introducing the outstanding techniques from abroad to the industry of our country. Furthermore, we have continuously put unbound effort in developing our own technology through industrial research and studies.

We, the JONGHAP family will create another area by an upgraded achievement through a more profound and specialized research and development with the hi-tech equipment and selected human resources together with the techniques and know-how that have been accumulated in the marine and industrial field so far.

We would like to extend our gratitude to all our customers and the neighbors who have always been in our support and guidance. We will be a more reliable and trustworthy JONGHAP for you.
